March on Main Street

Saturday, March 27, 2010

10:00am-4:00pm

The March on Main Street will be an event in which supports our local animal rescue groups. This would of course be pet friendly, but yet, children and families are certainly welcome.

The local animal rescue groups are very important to our community and with The Pet Pawlor hosting this festival, the community can come out and support the organizations, and share their appreciation for what they do. This event will also add a great deal of knowledge to the community about preventing animal cruelty, prohibiting animal neglect, promoting animal health, and encouraging animal rescuing.

Along with the vendors, many of the local animal shelters, including, Hall County Humane Society, and multiple animal rescue groups will be there providing educational information pertaining to adopting a new pet and have animals there for adoption.

During the festival, there will be a march for the shelters and rescue groups participating in the event. Other families there at that hour of the parade can join in the showing their support for their community.

The Pet Pawlor will also be hosting special games for the children. Just to include a few ideas, a moon walk, pin the tail on the doggie, and many other carnival type entertainment. There will be a pet costume contest, together with a contest for the biggest and smallest dog, the shortest and tallest dog, and many other interesting features.

During and after this event, there will be cleanup crews to maintain the areas. There will be designated "puppy potty zones" with a "potty pickup station" located at each zone. There will be "people potties" located behind the caboose near the train tracks.

The Pet Pawlor is also writing to, The Gainesville Times, to inquire writing a story about the upcoming event. There will be an add put in the Hall County Magazine, and other advertisement will be used to get further support.
